Vintage Country Club, Indian Wells,

Known worldwide for his visionary commercial architecture, including the Bellagio Hotel, Jon Jerde has also designed three private homes. The exclusive Vintage Club is the location of one of those residential inspirations. Jerde, along with his wife, Janice Ambry Jerde, executed this incomparable architectural achievement overlooking the picturesque signature 16th Hole of the Mountain Course. Joining the Jerde team was White Design of Pacific Palisades. Their mission was to compliment the Jerdes' architectural concept with sophisticated and luxurious, yet comfortable and warm decor, furnishings, and accents. DeWitte Construction and his select group of craftsmen were given the task of constructing this multi-level 10,000 +/- SF master work encompassing stunning views from every angle and level of the home. This once in a lifetime project was a collaboration between architect, designer, builder and owner.
