Bay Park, San Diego,

This spectacular home, set in Bay Ho, is in one of San Diegoâ€™s most sought-after neighborhoods. Built in 1963, and always meticulously maintained, this residence has had little use over the years and is ready for new stewardship and a new owners' aesthetic. The homeâ€™s configuration is a ground-level tiled entry, a thoughtfully planned and efficient kitchen, a large dining area, and a massive living room with cathedral ceilings and a fireplace. Also on the ground floor is a large primary suite and two sizable bedrooms, all with cathedral ceilings. The upstairs space contains a huge flex room with panoramic views, a cathedral ceiling, a fireplace, a wet bar, a large balcony, and a storage room. Attached to this upstairs space is one bedroom and one bathroom. This upstairs area can be reconfigured into a second primary suite with additional entertainment areas or additional bedrooms, an office, or any need that a new buyer may have. This home presents a fantastic opportunity for a homeowner to create a perfect oasis with their personal esthetic, or an investor to transform the home for others. Recent updates include all new windows and exterior doors, and a newer HVAC system. From the upstairs space there are outstanding views overlooking Mission Bay, Sea World, nighttime Sea World fireworks, nighttime sparkling city lights, Point Loma, the Pacific Ocean, and on clear days the Coronado Islands. This home is located less than 3/4 mile from the San Diego Trolley

Blue Line Balboa Avenue Station, with access to Old Town, Little Italy, Downtown, the Convention Center, Petco Park and beyond. The northbound trolley accesses University Town Center, The VA Hospital, UCSD, and Scripps Hospital. This home's location is also exceptionally convenient to Mission Bay, Pacific Beach, La Jolla, Mission Valley, and downtown.
