N/A, Burbank,

Tucked into the heart of Magnolia Park, this 1940s traditional is full of charm and light. A brick walkway winds through a cheerful front garden, leading to a home with both personality and presence. Inside, the newly remodeled kitchen is a true centerpiece.

Custom navy cabinetry, clean modern lines, and an open connection to the dining area and living room create a space that's as functional as it is beautiful. Wood shutters frame the windows throughout, casting soft light across art-gallery-style hallways that guide you through the home. Designed with thoughtful separation, the four bedrooms are placed on opposite ends of the house. The spacious primary suite opens directly to the backyard, offering a quiet escape and easy access to the pool perfect for morning dips or warm summer evenings under the trees. The backyard is generous and inviting, with a sparkling pool surrounded by mature landscaping, space for sunbathing, lounging, and grilling. Just beyond the pool, a detached studio adds something rare. With its wide glass door and oversized footprint, it's more than a bonus space, it's a bright, inspiring room that can flex as a creative studio, home office, guest suite, or retreat. Whether you're building something big or just carving out space for yourself, this is where it can happen. Additional highlights include a large laundry room with storage, a gated driveway, and a two-car garage. Set just blocks from the Chandler Bike Path and moments from local favorites in Magnolia Park, this is a home that invites you to settle in and stay awhile.
