N/A, Los Angeles,

Nestled in one of Brentwood's most tranquil settings, this Mandeville Canyon home was thoughtfully reimagined to honor its Mid Century architectural roots while introducing refined, modern comfort. Every detail of the designer-crafted renovation was carried out with precision, from aesthetic elements like new flooring, custom millwork, and fixtures, to the new roof and upgraded plumbing, electrical, septic, and central air systems -- providing peace of mind that extends through years to come. Secluded by the lush canyon hillside and enveloped in mature trees, citrus, and manicured landscaping, this 2,501-square-foot single-level residence offers a distinct sense of retreat within expansive 13,338-square-foot grounds. Bright and airy living spaces are framed by skylights, Fleetwood doors, and Milgard windows, while seamless wood floors, a floor-to-ceiling walnut built-in, and a porcelain fireplace create a warm, inviting ambiance. The chef's kitchen is extended by a built-in dining booth providing additional storage and prep space. Outfitted with premium solid wood cabinetry, stone countertops and backsplash, and high-end stainless appliances from SubZero and Bertazzoni, the kitchen is both sleek and highly functional. A versatile additional living space with a powder room opens directly to the garden and is lined by a custom built-in. Currently used as an art studio, the space is teeming with possibilities for use as a home theater, chic office space, playroom, guest suite, and more. Three bedrooms are arranged along a private wing, including two secondary bedrooms that share a bathroom finished with Zellige tile and the expansive primary suite. Here, high, vaulted ceilings and direct access to a sunny patio lend the space volume and light, while a serene Phillip Jeffries mural provides a dreamy focal point. A spacious walk-in closet and spa-like ensuite with a skylight, dual vanities, and a wet room with shower and soaking tub infuse luxury into the everyday. A meticulously crafted paver patio, sculptural plantings, and a built-in BBQ frame the outdoor living area -- an enchanting setting for open-air dining, entertaining, and quiet retreat. Other notable features include the dedicated laundry room with a sink and an attached 2-car garage with a Level 2 EV charger. Every surface, system, and detail has been considered -- bringing a rare blend of style and craftsmanship into the natural rhythm of canyon life. Here, indulge in the feeling of being world's away while maintaining the convenience of proximity to the best of Westside living.
