Racquet Club East, Palm Springs,

Every detail of this quintessential Palm Springs home has been reimagined with a sense of clarity and intention, transforming it into something distinctly elevated. Ceilings rising over ten feet give the living spaces an airy presence, while clerestory windows frame the San Jacinto mountains and palm tree tops like living works of art. The kitchen anchors the home with a sleek induction cooktop, integrated appliances and tailored cabinetry anchored by a center island. The primary suite opens through glass doors into the gardens, creating an easy rhythm between indoors and out. Its private bath is finished with contemporary tile detailing, while guest rooms share a beautifully designed bath alongside a centrally located powder room. Walls of glass stack aside, opening the home fully to its curated gardens and mountain backdrop with large lot with room for an ADU should you desire. The landscape becomes a private retreat centered on a pool with integrated spa and tanning shelf, complemented by a lounging patio oriented to mountain views, a fire feature with its own seating area and a built-in BBQ for effortless entertaining. With new infrastructure, an enclosed two-car garage with EV charging and grounds that feel organic yet composed, the home offers a crisp, organic expression shaped for life in the desert.
