N/A, Los Angeles,

Set in one of Brentwood's most tranquil canyons, this home feels both architecturally significant and deeply serene - a true retreat just moments from the city. Tucked into peaceful Upper Mandeville Canyon, this is a mid-century modern gem set in a very private and protected property. The 3 bedroom, 2 bath home reflects the timeless essence of architectural Cali living with clean lines, natural light, and an easy connection between indoors and out. Designed as a Mid-Century modern by renowned LA architect Allen Siple, the open layout unites the living, dining, and kitchen areas, where walls of glass fill the space with sunlight and frame views of private, lush greenery. The kitchen was recently reimagined with warm oak cabinetry, Zellige tile, brass fixtures, and sleek quartz counters that blend modern design with mid-century character. Open shelving displays curated ceramics, and a large window looks out over the courtyard. The primary suite opens to a private backyard sanctuary with a pool, fountain, and plenty of lounge space for relaxing or entertaining. A bonus and detached 800-square-foot garage and creative studio offer endless possibilities for work or play.
