1010 Galloway presents a rare opportunity to secure a 5,200 sq ft lot in Pacific Palisades and be part of the neighborhood's rebuild. The property is now a vacant parcel offering a clean slate for new construction, with the seller having already begun the architectural planning process. Plans are in place for a new home of approximately 3,800 square feet, allowing the next owner to step into the process and significantly accelerate the timeline toward construction. The previous structure on the site measured 3,490 square feet. Ideally located just a stone's throw from Caruso Village, the property offers the chance to build in one of the Palisades' most beloved pockets as the community comes back to life. Whether continuing with the existing plans or bringing a new vision to the site, 1010 Galloway presents a compelling opportunity to create a custom home in the heart of the Palisades.
