A New Standard in Coastal Sophistication Set on newly developed Gordon Lane—home to just 13 architecturally distinct residences—this just-completed property offers a rare blend of design integrity, ocean views, and calm, coastal luxury. Crafted by Golba Architecture, built by Redline Custom Contracting, and finished by AGK Design Studio, every detail of the home was envisioned with intention and brought to life with elevated precision. The interiors feel as if they’ve evolved, not been assembled—layered in soft greens, muted blues, and natural textures that draw from the surrounding landscape. Light pours in through large-format skylights and custom steel doors, illuminating the sculptural kitchen centered by a 60" Ilve range imported from Italy’s Veneto region. Distressed oak cabinetry, honed Calacatta Cremona marble, custom brass rail detailing, and panel-ready appliances elevate both form and function. Throughout the home, you’ll find handcrafted moments: artisan tilework, Studio McGee fixtures, custom paneling by GMJ Woodworks, and bespoke ceiling treatments in each bedroom. The outdoor living is seamless and serene, with a private backyard framed for connection and calm. Tucked into the foothills of Mt. Soledad, just above Kate Sessions Park and minutes from La Jolla and the coastal vibrance of Pacific Beach—this is a home built to stand apart. Not just new. Not just luxury. This is intentional living, beautifully done.
