N/A, Orland,

Location is EVERYTHING! The "Templeton House" was built by Charles Albert Templeton. This 1916 historic craftsman home rests on two city lots and sits right in the heart of Orland California. The original interior wood craftsmanship, tall ceilings, vintage fixtures, full attic, and quarter basement are just a few features that give this charming home so much character. Like to tinker? Check out the two detached shop buildings with a carport in between that conveniently opens to the alley with an electric garage door. Green thumb? Enjoy the fenced garden area and mature fruit trees. Fun fact: Orland California is the Queen Bee Capital of North America. The Orland community offers many other eclectic features as well. Step back in time and enjoy the quaint downtown stores, fine dining, library, park, the seasonal downtown street fairs and festivals, just minutes from your front door. Donâ€™t let this rare opportunity pass you by!
